

Legacy of Leadership

AFRICAN-AMERICAN FULBRIGHT ALUMNI REACHING OUT TO THE WORLD

Kimberly Battle-Walters, Fulbright Scholar in South Africa, 2002: The Fulbright program opened doors for me. In addition to teaching, research, and being a “cultural ambassador”, I was able to conduct workshops on diversity, meet Archbishop Desmond Tutu, have tea with the Queen Mother of Lesotho and discuss with African leaders what they were doing to better serve their communities. (Kimberly Battle-Walters, Associate Professor of Social Work, Azusa Pacific University)

Brandon Ogbunugafor, Fulbright Student in Kenya, 2002-03: My Fulbright in Kenya was perfect. It allowed me to conduct cutting edge scientific work in a culture that I have been interested in immersing myself in for years. As a result, I can see myself returning to Kenya to pursue research in the field of tropical medicine. (Brandon Ogbunugafor, MD/PhD student, Yale School of Medicine)

The Bureau of Educational and Cultural Affairs of the U.S Department of State is proud to recognize the many African-American Fulbright Program alumni who make significant contributions to international understanding through educational and cultural exchange. The Fulbrighters below are but a small sampling of the more than 267,000 Fulbright alumni worldwide who are working to increase mutual understanding between the people of the United States and other countries.

Yvette Alex-Assensoh – Bloomington, Indiana, Assistant Professor of Political Science, Indiana University
Member, American Political Science Association Standing Committee for Civic Education and Engagement
Fulbright scholar in Croatia, 2001-02

Maya Angelou - Winston-Salem, North Carolina, Poet
and Professor of American Studies, Wake Forest University
Fulbright 40th Anniversary Distinguished Lecturer in Liberia, 1986

Cynthia Baldwin - Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania, Judge,
Allegheny County Court of Common Pleas
President, Pennsylvania State University Board of Trustees
Fulbright scholar in Zimbabwe, 1994

Viola Baskerville - Richmond, Virginia, Member, Virginia
House of Delegates
Fulbright student in Germany, 1973-74

William Berry - Urbana-Champaign, Illinois, Associate
Chancellor for Equal Opportunity and Access,
University of Illinois Urbana-Champaign
Fulbright scholar in the Dominican Republic, 2000

Joanne Braxton - Williamsburg, Virginia, Director, The Middle
Passage Project and Cummings Chair of American Studies,
College of William and Mary
Fulbright scholar in Germany, 2000-01

During her Fulbright grant in 2002, Azusa Pacific University professor Kimberly Battle-Walters reaches out to African youth.

Legacy of Leadership

AFRICAN-AMERICAN FULBRIGHT ALUMNI REACHING OUT TO THE WORLD

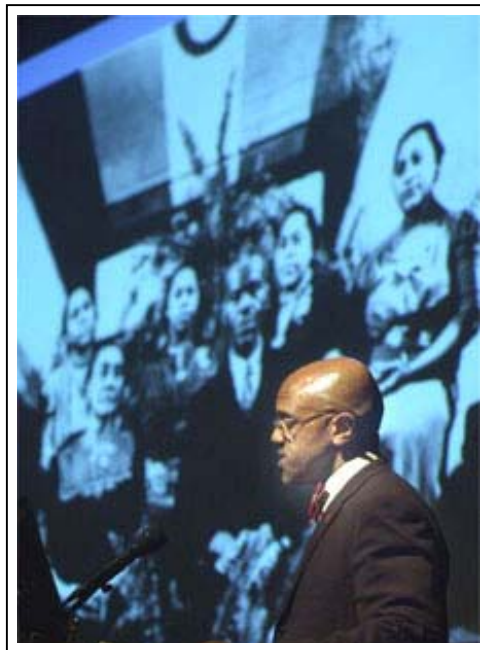

Andrew Brimmer - Washington, D.C., Economist and President, Brimmer and Company; Former Member, Federal Reserve Board of Governors Fulbright student in India, 1952; Fulbright scholar in Sudan, 1958; Ghana and Nigeria, 1986

Lawrence Edward Carter, Sr. - Atlanta, Georgia, Dean, Martin Luther King, Jr. International Chapel, Morehouse College Fulbright scholar in Brazil, 1994

Ronald A. Crutcher - Oxford, Ohio, President, Wheaton College Fulbright student in Germany, 1972-74

Edwin Dorn - Austin, Texas, Dean, Lyndon B. Johnson School of Public Affairs, University of Texas at Austin; Former Undersecretary of Defense; U.S. Department of Defense Fulbright student in the United Kingdom, 1967-68

Rita Dove - Charlottesville, Virginia, Pulitzer Prize-winning Poet and Poet Laureate of the United States, 1993-95, Commonwealth Professor of English, University of Virginia Fulbright student in Germany, 1974-75

Fulbright alumnus Ronald Crutcher speaking at Kent State University's first-ever Martin Luther King Jr. Day celebration in 2003.

Fulbright alumna Marsha Echols lectured in Mozambique in 2001.

Marsha A. Echols - Washington, D.C., Professor of Law and Director, Project on International Knowledge, Creativity and Development, Howard University Law School Fulbright senior specialist in Mozambique, 2001

Mark English - Fort Monmouth, New Jersey, Commandant, United States Military Academy Preparatory School; Former Associate Professor of Arabic and Middle East Studies at West Point. Fulbright scholar in Jordan, 2002

Lee Evans - Mobile, Alabama, Olympic Gold Medallist and Head Coach of Track and Field, South Alabama University; Former Athletic Director, Special Olympics International Fulbright scholar in Africa; 1986-87

Legacy of Leadership

AFRICAN-AMERICAN FULBRIGHT ALUMNI REACHING OUT TO THE WORLD

Garth Fagan - Rochester, New York, Tony Award-winning Choreographer and Founder, Garth Fagan Dance
Fulbright 50th Anniversary Lecturer in New Zealand, 1996

Jonathan Farley - Cambridge, Mass., Martin Luther King, Jr. Visiting Professor, Department of Mathematics, Massachusetts Institute of Technology; Former Tennessee Green Party Candidate for Congress
Fulbright scholar in the United Kingdom, 2001-02

Frances Smith Foster - Atlanta, Georgia, Professor of English and Women's Studies and Director, Institute for Women's Studies, Emory University
Fulbright scholar in the Netherlands, 1997

Ken Fox - Chicago, Illinois, Pediatrician, Erie Family Health Center Former Fellow, Physicians for Human Rights; Assistant Professor, Boston University Medical School, 1999-2003, Organizer 2004 Cape Town Youth Festival, "Hip Hop, Health and Human Rights"
Fulbright New Century Scholar in South Africa, 2002

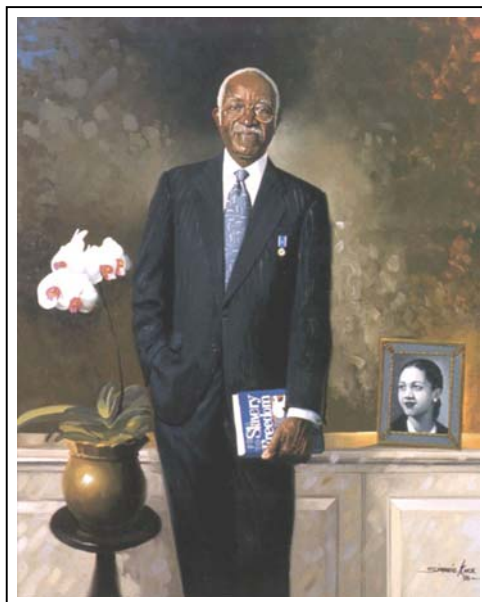

John Hope Franklin - Durham, North Carolina, James B. Duke Professor of History Emeritus, Duke University; Recipient, Presidential Medal of Freedom; Former Member and Chair, Fulbright Board of Foreign Scholarship
Fulbright scholar, United Kingdom, 1954; Australia, 1960; Venezuela, 1973; Zimbabwe, 1986; Brazil, 1987

Myra Frazier - Washington, D.C., Southern Africa Coordinator, Global Climate Change, U.S. Environmental Protection Agency
Fulbright student in Gabon, 1991

Thomas Glave - Binghamton, New York, Writer and Assistant, Professor of Creative Writing and English, SUNY-Binghamton; O. Henry Award Recipient
Fulbright scholar in Jamaica, 1998-99

Laurie C. Hoes - McLean, Virginia, Vice President, Science Applications International Corporation (SAIC)
Fulbright student in Germany, 1980-81

James Horton, Washington, D.C., Benjamin Bannecker Professor of American Studies and History, George Washington University and Director, Afro-American Communities Project, National Museum of American History
Fulbright scholar in Germany, 1988-89

Eminent historian and Fulbright alumnus John Hope Franklin holds a copy of his landmark book From Slavery to Freedom, which transformed worldwide teaching and understanding of African-American history.

AFRICAN-AMERICAN FULBRIGHT ALUMNI REACHING OUT TO THE WORLD

Former U.S. Secretary of State Colin L. Powell (left) and Former NASA Astronaut Harrison Schmitt (center) present the Leadership Award for Alumni of the U.S. Fulbright Student Program to Ray Jefferson at a Department of State ceremony in July 2003.

Raymond Jefferson – Washington, D.C., Former Deputy Director, State of Hawaii's Department of Business, Economic Development & Tourism Fulbright student in Singapore, 2001-02

Richard A. Joseph - Evanston, Illinois, Director, Program of African Studies, Northwestern University Fulbright student in France; Fulbright scholar in Nigeria

Murad Kalam - Washington, D.C., Writer and Attorney Author, Night Journey (2003) Fulbright student in Egypt, 2002-03

Delores Kendrick - Washington, D.C., District of Columbia Poet Laureate Fulbright teacher in Northern Ireland, 1963-64

David Levering Lewis - New York City, Pulitzer Prize-winning biographer of W. E. B. Du Bois and University Professor, New York University Fulbright student in the United Kingdom, 1956-57

Percy R. Luney, Jr. - Orlando, Florida, Dean, College of Law, Florida A&M University Fulbright scholar in Japan, 1986; 1991-92

Walter Massey - Atlanta, Georgia, President, Morehouse College Former director of the National Science Foundation Fulbright 50th Anniversary Distinguished Lecturer in South Africa, 1996

Calvin McClinton - Kent, Ohio, Founder, Musical Theater Arts Foundation for Central and Eastern Europe Fulbright scholar in Romania, 1999-2000

Aminah McCloud - Chicago, Illinois, Associate Professor of Islamic Studies, DePaul University and Managing Editor, The Journal of Islamic Law and Culture Fulbright scholar in Morocco, 1995-96

Hazel McFerson - Fairfax, Virginia, Associate Professor, International Studies, George Mason University and Chair, Albert Einstein Institution for Strategic Non-violence Fulbright scholar in the Philippines, 1998-99

Lawrence McNeil - Washington, D.C., Vice Chair, Elimisha Institute for Youth and Senior Auditor, Industrial Bank, NA, the third largest African-American owned banking institution in the U.S. Fulbright student in Ghana, 1997

Legacy of Leadership

AFRICAN-AMERICAN FULBRIGHT ALUMNI REACHING OUT TO THE WORLD

Ivory V. Nelson - Lincoln University, Pennsylvania, President, Lincoln University of Pennsylvania; President Emeritus of Central Washington University Fulbright scholar in Mexico, 1966

Ronald Palmer - Washington, D.C., Professor Emeritus Practice of International Affairs, George Washington University, U.S. Ambassador to Togo, 1976-78; Malaysia, 1981-83; Mauritius, 1986-89. Fulbright student in France, 1954-55

Carolyn Reid-Wallace - Virginia, Former President, Fisk University; Former Vice President, Corporation for Public Broadcasting Fulbright Scholar in Guyana, 1974

Yvonne Scruggs-Leftwich - Washington, D.C., Senior Professor, National Labor College; Former Executive Director, Black Leadership Forum Fulbright student in Germany, 1955-56

Ruth Simmons - Providence, Rhode Island, President, Brown University; Former President, Smith College Fulbright student in France, 1967-68

R. Drew Smith - Atlanta, Georgia, Director, Public Influences of African-American Churches Project, The Leadership Center, Morehouse College Fulbright scholar in South Africa, 2004-05

Raymond Tanter - Washington, D.C., Visiting Professor, Georgetown University School of Foreign Service; Adjunct Scholar, Washington Institute for Near East Policy Fulbright scholar in the Netherlands 1972-73

Maxine Thomas - Dayton, Ohio, General Counsel, Kettering Foundation Fulbright scholar in Japan, 1988-89

Mischa Thompson - Washington, D.C., Legislative Assistant, Foreign Policy, Rep. Gregory Meeks (D-NY) Fulbright student in Germany, 1996-97

George Walker - New Jersey, Pulitzer Prize-winning Composer Fulbright student in France, 1957-58

Alvia J. Wardlaw - Houston, Texas, Associate Professor of Art History, Texas Southern University and Curator, Something All Our Own: The Grant Hill Collection of African-American Art Fulbright scholar in Tanzania, 1997

Katherine E. White - Detroit, Michigan, Assistant Professor, Wayne State University School of Law and Major, U.S. Army Reserves; Former White House Fellow. Fulbright scholar in Germany, 1999-2000

Fulbright - The Legacy is Leadership Contact Rhonda E. Boris, Special Projects Officer - Fulbright Programs, Office of Academic Exchange Programs, Bureau of Educational and Cultural Affairs, U.S. Department of State Tel: (202) 401-2411; Fax: (202) 401-5914; E-mail: borisre@state.gov (ECA/A/E February 2005)

United States Department of State • Bureau of Educational and Cultural Affairs • Washington, D.C. • 20547 • <http://exchanges.state.gov>

Brown University President and Fulbright alumna Ruth Simmons is the first African-American to lead an ivy-league institution.